

mean differences in deviations of the optimized bin-widths from the searched bin-widths between the methods with and without using the mask info

